

Thursday 23 November

Time	Speaker	Affiliation	Topic	Theme
08:00			COFFEE
08:30	Johannes Müller, Martin Furholt	Institute of Pre- and Protohistoric Archaeology, Christian-Albrechts University, Kiel	Welcome
08:45	Michela Spataro	CRC1266 F5 Mercator Fellow	Introduction
09:00	Dean E. Arnold	Field Museum, Chicago	Understanding the acceptance of innovative technical skills across time: ethnographic and theoretical insights from Latin America	Definitions of innovation
09:30	Louise Gomart	CNRS - Trajectoires UMR 8215, Maison de l'archéologie, Nanterre	Innovation or transmission? Assessing the socio-economic conditions underlying ceramic technological change in early Neolithic pottery assemblages in Europe
10:00	Åsa Maria Larsson	Swedish National Heritage Board, Stockholm	Change that matters: reading history through pottery
10:30			COFFEE
11:00	Massimo Vidale	Department of Cultural Heritage, University of Padua	The onset of wheel-throwing in Middle Asia: a late Neolithic innovation?	Detecting the initial appearance of innovations
11:30	Slawek Kadrow	Rzeszów University & CAU Kiel	Innovations in ceramic technology in the context of culture change at the turn of 6th and 5th millennia BC north of the Carpathians
12:00	Selena Vitezović	Institute of Archaeology, Belgrade	Technological changes and innovations in Neolithic osseous industries
12:30			LUNCH
13:30	Heather Miller	Department of Anthropology, University of Toronto	Technological innovation in the Indus Civilisation	Adoption and diffusion of innovations
14:00	Anna Rauba-Bukowska	Institute of Archaeology and Ethnology, Polish Academy of Sciences, Krakow	Changes in the Linearband Culture pottery production: origin and directions of ideas
14:30	Igor Manzura	High Anthropological School, Chisinau	Lithic industry of the Gumelnița culture in the steppes: in search of new technological approaches
15:00	Maria Ivanova	Institute of Pre- and Proto-history, University of Heidelberg	Revolution reloaded: reinvention and innovation in the first agricultural expansion in Europe
15:30			COFFEE
16:00	Attila Kreiter	Hungarian National Museum	Cultural relationships in the contact zone: later 6th millennium BC ceramic technology in Transdanubia, western Hungary	Transmission of technical skills
16:30	Berit V. Eriksen	Centre for Baltic and Scandinavian Archaeology, Schleswig	Colourful Lithics – sociocultural implications of technological choices in prehistoric flint knapping
17:00			DISCUSSION

Friday 24 November

Time	Speaker	Affiliation	Topic	Theme
08:00			COFFEE
08:30	Katarina Botwid	Department of Archaeology and Ancient History, Lund University	Skill in high-temperature crafts: an artisanal perspective on fire	Factors promoting innovation
09:00	Valentine Roux	CNRS - Préhistoire et Technologie UMR 7055, Nanterre	Innovation, craft specialization and social networks in the 5th millennium Southern Levant
09:30			COFFEE
10:00	Jasna Vuković	Department of Archaeology, University of Belgrade	Technological innovation and social change: Early vs. Late Neolithic pottery production of the Central Balkans
10:30	Robert Hofmann	Institute of Pre- and Protohistoric Archaeology, Christian-Albrechts University, Kiel	Innovation in Neolithic and Chalcolithic pottery production in south-eastern and eastern Europe
11:00			DISCUSSION
12:00			LUNCH	